

European Union Aviation Safety Agency

FAQ n.95264

FAQs:

Cargo Tracking Devices

Question:

[Must/Should/Can] EASA [certify/approve/evaluate] my cargo tracking device?

Answer:

EASA does neither certify nor approve cargo tracking devices. There are no requirements to obtain a certificate from EASA to operate these devices.

EASA has proposed in the past a service on a voluntary basis to evaluate the compliance of cargo tracking devices against the technical criteria mentioned above. However, in view of the simplification of AMC1 CAT.GEN.MPA.140, this service will be discontinued in 2019. As before, operators remain responsible to authorise the use of PEDs on board their aircraft.

Last updated:

09/04/2019

Link:

<https://www.easa.europa.eu/bg/faq/95264>